[illegible]

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, WEDNESDAY, OCT. [illegible], 1865. NO. 293.

[illegible]

... North Carolina have frequently been grossly misrepresented at the North. The reports of our disloyalty have been [illegible] and attempts were made to dishonor us at Washington. Gov. Holden, as Executive of the State, assured the President that however [illegible] were these reports, they were false; that the people of the State had submitted to the oath of allegiance in good faith and were [illegible] observing it. The effect of this [illegible] is seen in the kindly sentiments expressed by the President for the State.

[illegible], in the face of the plain policy of Andrew Johnson, oppose the man whom he has selected above all others as the instrument to carry out his honorable intentions, they are guilty of stigmatising the Governor as a falsifier, and bring upon themselves the suspicion of perjury.

We have nothing to say regarding the loyalty or disloyalty of Mr. Worth. He may be a very proper man, in every sense. But his relations to the government are not those of Gov. Holden, nor will his [illegible] in the spirit of conciliation now so much desired. If the administration had desired Mr. Worth to be Governor of North Carolina, he, and not Gov. Holden, would have received the appointment.

We must remember that our State does not yet enjoy the sweet privilege of shaping her own political course. We have not yet been received into the Union, and [illegible] the wishes of the United States Government—if we expect to be benefitted by the amnesty policy of that government. To elect for our first Governor the candidate who is the favorite of that class which supported the Confederacy, is not the proper course to pursue in order to attain such a desired end.

The Population of the Globe.

There are on the globe about 1,288 millions of souls, of which 369 millions are of the Caucasian race.

552 millions are of the Mongol race.

190 millions are of the Ethiopian race.

176 millions are of the Malay race.

1 million are of the Indo-American race.

There are 3,[illegible] languages spoken, and 1,000 different religions.

The yearly mortality of the globe is 333,333,333 persons. This is at the rate of 91,554 per day, 3,730 per hour, 60 per minute. So each pulsation of our heart marks the decease of some human creature.

The average of human life is 33 years.

One-fourth of the population dies at or before the age of 7 years—one-half at or before 17 years.

Among 10,000 persons one arrives at the age of 100 years, one in 500 attains the age of 90, and one in 100 lives to 60.

Married men live longer than single ones. In 1,000 persons 65 marry, and more marriages occur in June and December than in any other months of the year.

One-eighth of the whole population is military.

Professions exercise a great influence on longevity. In 1,000 individuals who arrive at the age of 70 years 42 are priests, orators or public speakers; 40 are agriculturists; 33 are workmen; 32 are soldiers or military employees; 29 are advocates or engineers; 27 are professors, and 24 are doctors. Those who devote their lives to the prolongation of that of others die the soonest.

There are 335,000,000 Christians.

There are 5,000,000 Israelites.

There are 60,000,000 Asiatic religions.

There are 160,000,000 Mahometans.

There are 200,000,000 Pagans.

In the Christian churches:

170,000,000 profess the Roman Catholic.

75,000,000 profess the Greek faith.

80,000,000 profess the Protestant.

Collections for the Suffering Poor in the South.—The Catholic Mirror continues the publication of the collections recently made in the Catholic Churches in the Diocese of Baltimore, for the relief of the suffering poor of the South. The same collected amount [illegible] is $11,[illegible], and the [illegible].

THE CITY.

[illegible]

... interest need not fear. As our people seem disposed to sell and the Northern people to buy, we anticipate more or less of a crop from new fields for 1866; yet no ordinary production can possibly interfere with extraordinary rates, inasmuch as there is so little on hand and the demand everywhere has become so extraordinary.

We therefore say to all: push ahead with their enterprise, buy or lease according to circumstances, and if working to any advantage whatever, they will realize large returns.

"A Lady" who has some beloved ones buried in the city cemetery writes us a sharp criticism on the general mismanagement of our municipal affairs. We decline publishing it because she censures police officers who are the most vigilant in the organization and do their duty manfully. Besides, it is not the fault of the city commissioners that the corporation's treasury is not full to overflowing. They have been necessitated to borrow money upon which to operate the local government and yet we do not doubt that the city cemetery will be attended to as soon as practicable.

The Right Thing in a Wrong Place.—Kissing is an allowable thing, even through the bars; but should not be indulged too publicly. For instance just as we turned off from Fayetteville street and into Davy last night, we encountered a man in blue and a woman in black, passionately engaged in bussing each other. The "reports" from the collision of lips were very audible and we left them in their glory. N. B.—The woman's dress was purple, and she was in black skin.

To be Successful—we take it for granted—is the wish of every candidate in the present campaign. They must therefore supply the ammunition promptly to the scouts and we inform them that election tickets, in any quantity, from one to fifty thousand, can be printed at this office on the shortest possible notice. Price, one dollar per thousand.

Circulars, book work and all other jobbing done with dispatch.

Blustering.—Yesterday was one of those blustering days which blow dust into men's eyes at every approach of silk, muslin and prunella. It was a feeling reminder of winter and heavy goods for both sexes are fast superseding the lighter fabrics of summer.

[illegible]

... theft. They were locked up to await Mr. B.'s appearance to identify the cotton.

Simeon Johnson, a well known character here, was arrested last night and locked up to answer the charge of having insulted a highly respected lady during the afternoon. He is said to be an old and hardened offender.

Slight Mistake.—In citing the new advertisements yesterday, we unintentionally attributed the possession of nice hams and other goods to B. P. Richardson & Co. It should have been our friends up the street, B. P. Williamson & Co., who have in store a supply of such things as are requisite to good living. Besides such things, mechanics and farmers may find there a large number of articles useful to them.

Gone for Holden.—A lady of this city, beautiful as accomplished, and who was throughout the war pre-eminently secession, told us yesterday that she was in favor of Wm. W. Holden and that she had made a convert of her beau, who, a week ago, was a poison-headed Worth man. We presume the ladies generally—especially the pretty ones—are for the present incumbent.

Narrow Escape.—Two youths of this city met with a narrow escape from death yesterday. By pecking away at an old bombshell, they unexpectedly and unintentionally produced an explosion, but the greater part of the charge is supposed to have been previously emptied, as the metal merely opened. The boys were considerably shocked by the concussion, but not otherwise injured.

Colored Troops.—Gen. Ruger, who has commended himself to our people as well as the administration at Washington, by his departmental services here, is now distributing troops at different points as preliminary to the removal of all the colored troops. Capt. Purinton and his company are now at Wilmington.

Error.—From oversight in the writer, we were made to call the late provost marshal Montgomery instead of Purinton. The worthy party concerned evidently appreciated the mistake.

Needs Repair.—The bridge across the ravine, at the gas house, is sadly out of repair. A few hours labor would restore it to a proper condition and we hope it will be attended to at once.

Pardons.—A large number of pardons for citizens of the State have just been received from the President by Gov. Holden. Go or send and obtain the documents.

For New York.—The steamer Louisa Moore, Capt. Wooster, is freighting at Newbern for New York and will sail on the 26th inst.

Look Out.—By reference to our telegrams it will be seen that a new and dangerous counterfeit has been put in circulation.

J. N., the fearless satirist, immortal philosopher and profound thinker, speaks in Goldsborough this evening and Wilmington to-morrow night on his great theory of reconciliation between North and South.

Life in Death—Remarkable Case of Trance.—On Tuesday night Mr. Crowder, a young gentleman residing on High street, died to all appearances. The corpse was laid out, and the grief and lamentation was such as is usual in such cases. His brother was to have been married last night, but all preparation for the happy event was stopped by this sad and solemn one.

On yesterday morning the supposed dead man got up and dressed himself, and is now enjoying as much vitality as could be expected of a corpse.

The marriage came off last night, and we suppose "the resurrected" attended.—Petersburg Index.

If Sir Morton Peto and his [illegible] would visit the South, and [illegible] here, [illegible] millions [illegible] better than at any point in the great West.—Atlanta (Ga.) [illegible].

Any point in the [illegible] for investment, and without any [illegible] to detract from sister States, we [illegible] the opinion that North Carolina holds [illegible] inducements than any other [illegible] for foreign as well as American [illegible]. It is said that our State is the only one where all the articles enumerated in the U. S. census are produced.—Corn, wheat, tobacco, turpentine and rice are produced in [illegible] every county in the State. Potatoes are a staple in all the counties, the east producing immense quantities of the sweet and the west of the Irish potatoes. Oats are a staple nearly everywhere; rye, [illegible] buckwheat in the upper regions; hay abundant in all sections; hemp and flax are [illegible] grown; grapes of [illegible] and all the garden vegetables, apples, pears, peaches, melons, &c., &c., flourish in every part of the State; live stock abounds; beef and pork are everywhere staples; and the [illegible] in the United States are in the hilly parts of the State.

Previous to the war, one million barrels of turpentine were annually made. The fisheries were very extensive, and immense quantities of herring and shad were caught. Its water power is unsurpassed, and there is no healthier place in the world than the central and western portions of the Old North State.

Under such circumstances, let Sir Morton Peto and others invest in manufacturing or other enterprises in North Carolina as the great mine of wealth among the Southern sisterhood of States.

The stockholders of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad Company held a meeting at Laurinburg, in [illegible] county, on the 18th instant, Dr. [illegible] acting as chairman and Messrs. [illegible] and H. Craig being [illegible].

The secretaries, [illegible] the Hon. Robert S. French, were [illegible] to [illegible] and ascertain the amount of stock represented.

After inquiry, Judge French reported that there were represented in person 1,203 shares
And by proxy 6,201 shares

Making a total of 7,404 shares

This amount not being a majority of the capital stock subscribed—which required [illegible] shares.

On motion of Col. Robert H. Cowan, the meeting adjourned to meet in the town of Lincolnton, N. C., on the first Thursday after the third Monday in January, 1866.

The Albany Journal says the rumor that Secretary Seward informed the English government of the proceedings of the Fenians in [illegible] length and breadth, [illegible] Mr. Seward had not furnished the English government with information as represented; that no correspondence has passed in which a claim [illegible] for such intelligence, and that the whole story is as false as it is foolish.

Hon. R. L. Montague, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Virginia during Letcher's term, lately made a speech at the Bruington Church, King and Queen county, in which he [illegible] his belief that the origin of the war was not from African slavery, but "the too great extension of the Democratic principle, and there could be no permanent peace until this was restrained."

The leniency of the government at Washington still continues. Six thousand acres of land, belonging to the late Confederate General Gideon J. Pillow, which has been held as abandoned property for some time past by the government, has been restored to its original owner.

During the week ending Saturday, October 21st, the authorized increase in the circulation of National Banks is given at $[illegible].
